

Dear All,

We sincerely apologize for the inconvenience caused to some of you who were unable to attend today's live session at 8 pm. This issue arose due to a technical glitch, which has now been successfully resolved.

To ensure that everyone has an opportunity to participate, we will be hosting another live orientation session within the next 1-2 days. Details about this session will be promptly communicated through our Telegram Channel. If you haven't already joined the channel, kindly do so at your earliest convenience using the link provided in your respective course content.

Thank you for your understanding, and we look forward to your active participation in the upcoming sessions.

Best regards,
Apna College Admin.
